NATIONAL WHIG NOMINATIONS.

FOR PRESIDENT, GENERAL WINFIELD SCOTT OF NEW JERSEY.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT, WILLIAM A. GRAHAM,

OF NORTH CAROLINA

Resouver, That the Whig people of Washington, conscious that the ground they tread is worthy of the consecrated name it bears only so long as it is peopled by men who hold to the Union of the States as the source and fountain of the blessings of public order and private right—of liberty and law—of happiness at home, and honor throughout the world; and believing that in the principles and policy of the Whig party, and in the tried patriotism of its glorious leaders, is the best safeguard of the Union from domestic discord or foreign quarrel, no ROLD FIRMLY to those principles, and will raily with ardent and united hearts around the flag of the Union, to whomsover of these leaders it may be confided in the approaching contest.—Proceedings of a Whig meeting prior to the nomination.

Our City-Its Guests and Citizens.

The members of Congress are about to retire to their respective homes, after a very long and arduous, if not fruitful session. Our citizens will observe their departure with concern, and in many instances with regret, for the ties of attachment that arise between our people and the intelligent and talented gentlemen who sojourn among us in this public capacity are often of a very pleasant and profitable kind.

But there is not enough of this. The residence of members of Congress here is too generally at the hotels or "members' boarding-houses," and their social intercourse restricted to the "fashionable society" whose temporary abode alone is with us. They know but little of the plain, comfortable, honest, unassuming and intelligent citizens of Washington-of Washington off the Avenue, as distinctly separate from the showey and fashionable Washington as it is possible for two cities fifty miles apart to be.

In the city of Washington there are honesty, prudence, industry, modesty, and intelligence, such as are neither seen nor appreciated by many of the distinguished gentlemen who dwell even for many sessions here. There are carpenters, bricklayers, shop-keepers, clerks, &c., whose neat and tidy homes, and whose possessions of houses and grounds, are things scarcely noticed or thought of by the great men of the nation.

This standing apart of the real Washingtonians and their periodic visitants is to be regretted. But whose is the fault? It does not belong to the citizens. We have never known them to Might or regard with indifference any gentleman whose constituents have deemed him worthy to represent them. We think it is owing to the fact that so few who are sent hither find it convenient to bring their families with them; and hence, coming resolved to disregard the social comforts and conveniences that can be found only in the repose of a family, they are content with the way of life and associations peculiar to the hotels, but which are not congenial to the tastes of orderly, sedate, and unostentatious citizens. They are usually men too well established in character and years to yield to the temptations that would degrade less experienced persons: yet, so far as manners and the influences of associations are concerned, they appear to willingly set at defiance the restraints of conventional propriety that sweeten the enjoyment of domestic life.

The habit of bringing their wives and children with them to the National Capital is necessary, on the part of members of Congress, to a proper enjoyment of this healthy and abundant city, and a right appreciation of the people whose permanent homes are here.

To induce the adoption of such a custom, two things are requisite: the first, that there should be on the part of our honorable friends (who are generally poor) less affectation of grandeur and wealth; and, secondly, that our citizens should not be misled by these pretensions, but induced to receive honorables and their families with all Must he perish for want of a defence? Alack, the frankness and hearty cordiality they extend to all others who come among them. We would also indicate the propriety of supplying one very important want arising from such a state of things. It is that of dwellings adapted to the uses of the families of members. These, with all appointments complete, including the more substantial and bulky portions of furniture, should be provided at from $250 to $600 per session.

We remember once hearing a gentleman remark that he would become a free mason, if his wife could also, but that he had no confidence in the goodness of any place not accessible to woman. It is the experience of the world that no refined and desirable condition of society can exist where she is not; nor do we ever expect to witness such; and we regard the presence in this city during the session of the families of members as the most desirable reform possible to be made. That the present compensation is meagre for the purpose, we admit; but it would be infinitely better to add any necessary increase than to continue a practice neither conducive to indi#### vidual bappiness nor to the general weal. Hon. Fayette McMullin, of Virginia.

We recently quoted a couple of items from the Alexandria papers, (we think both the Gazette and Telegraph,) in which it was asserted that this gentleman had spoken of General Scott as "a silly old man." It is with pleasure that we learn from Mr. McMullen that these words are erroneously attributed to him. He states that purpose of picking some of them. That's the he has ever regarded General Scott with high respect, believing him to be THE GENERAL OF THE There should be given premiums for its encour-AGE, and that at the Alexandria meeting he so agement. stated, in connexion with the remark that the county in which he resides was one of the first in the United States to be named in honor of Gen. Scott. Mr. McMullen also states that his personal relations with General Scott have always been of the most friendly character, and that he would not by any act or wilful omission do aught | months or so. to forfeit the friendship or good opinion of Gen.

We are gratified that ours is the agreeable duty of doing justice both to Mr. McMullen and to General Scott; and we are at the same time sure that none will repeat this statement with more cheerfulness than will our cotemporaries at Alexandria, to whom no one would ever impute a desire to misquote the words of any gentleman.

Submarine Telegraph.

We see it stated a submarine telegraph between Scotland and Ireland will soon be in operation. That connecting London with Paris has long worked well. We know not what may yet be done on this continent, but we think it highly Religious Toleration.

We have always thought, and always acted on the conviction, that the subject of religion should be kept wholly apart from party politics. There are those who think otherwise, and we cannot verrule their action.

The Richmond Enquirer-a Democratic paper of high position-publishes a communication respecting the recent appointment of Mr. Cohen to the office of postmaster of Norfolk, and in which the following paragraph occurs :

"Mr. Cohen was recently clerk to on exploded broker-shop in Norfolk, is a High Priest in the Synagogue, keeps holy Saturday, and eschews hog-meat. We wish him a pleasant time till next March, and warn him to prepare for a 'Pierce.'

Mr. Cohen stands high in the community of Norfolk as a gentleman of intelligence and moral worth. It is true he is a Jew, and we doubt not conforms to the requirements of his religious belief; but what of it? Is it required that Jews in Virginia must be placed on the same footing with the Roman Catholics of New Hampshire? We are neither Jewish nor Roman Catholic, and our rights are therefore not directly assailed by these pinks of Democracy; yet we cannot refrain from the expression of our aversion to the infamous anti-republican tests proposed to be established by the pure Democrats of the present

The Jews were for many a year a proscribed people in Maryland, until John S. Tyson, " a hickory Quaker" from Baltimore, demanded and secured the repeal of the oppressive law; and we remember well the letter of thanks addressed to him by the Roman Catholic Bishop England of Charleston, South Carolina, for his honorable efforts, making allusion at the same time to the fact that certain brethren of his own communion were the subjects of proscription in certain States of the Union. In a few years after, the Roman Cotholic disability was removed in North Carolina, with the hearty approval," a gentleman near us assures us, "of William A. Graham."

But we have yet to regret that the model Democrats of New Hampshire, and some of them nearer at hand, are less progressive upon this subject. A Roman Catholic and a Jew are alike the objects of their aversion and contempt. To "keep holy Saturday and eschew hog meat" are enormous offences.

There are, to be sure, but few Jews in the Uni ted States; but, few or many, every genuine republican in our country will uphold and sustain them in their claims to every right and privilege of citizenship.

The Harrisburg Scott and Graham Mass Meeting.

This was truly a splendid affair, exceeding in reality our telegraphic accounts of it. The Washington Union had despatches representing it as a "slim meeting," but we know that they were not credited even by the Democrats around Other Democratic authorities state that it was a large meeting, but that many Democrats were in attendence. This is true; there were a goodly number of that party present, as we are informed upon good authority-Democrats who intend to sustain the "Old Chippewa" at th polls. There are many such everywhere.

Messrs. Taylor & Maury have presented to us Co., New York, and H. W. Derby & Co., Cincinnati, entitled "Introductory Lessons in Reading and Elecution." The first part is by Richard Greene Parker, and the second by J. C. Zachos, a native Greek. It belongs to the National School Series, and bears all the evidences of a work well adapted to its contemplated uses. To speak, to read, and to write the English language, are accomplishments to which but little attention is paid in the schools of our country. The few orators who rise among us but serve to excite our wonder, as to what must have been the conversational powers and eloquence of the accomplished men of Rome, who devoted so many years to the study of rhetoric and elecution

"Them Bloomers!"

The Boston Commonwealth seems to have wrought upon the popular mind by its description of some fifteen or twenty young ladies belonging to that city, who lately hired a house for the season, on the side of the White Mountains, near Conway, where they are keeping "bachelor's hall," wearing the Bloomer dress, hunting, fishing, picking berries, and enjoying themselves finely. There is some talk of an expedition from down South, of a party of young men, for the best bond of union between the North and South.

Our streets this morning presented a nore cheefful appearance than for the last three or four days. We have a little sunshine, and it causes some rejoicing, especially among those who have been waiting an opportunity to visit the public buildings and grounds.

The "Washington Club" excursion to Indian Head, advertised to start to-morrow afternoon, promises to be a very pleasant affair. Arrangements have been made by the committee to secure perfect order in all things tending to the gratification of the company. This excursion is for the benefit of the "Washington Monument," and, being under the control of our enterprising young friends, we doubt not it may be both successful and pleasant.

READ AND BE WISE!

THE celebrated German and Indian Physicians—Doctors Brothers & Gray—have established a permanent Medica Office in this city, after having travelled the world over in search of knowledge; and, having spent seven fears among the Indians for the purcose of getting a thorough knowledge of botany, they flatter themselves qualified to alleviate and cure all complaints to which the human family are subject. We flatter ourselves that, without asking a question, we will tell all who favor us with a call their complaints and symptoms, and guaranty an easy and speedy cure. A decided advantage we have over other Medical men is in the manner we determine the nature and location of the disease, which is by the urine. We require at least two ounces of the first in the morning. The many facilities afforded us by hospital and private practice, in this and foreign countries, warrant us in assuring those who are suffering from private diseases that our treatment is attended with unusually favorable results. Therefore, let no false modesty deter you from making your case known to one who will befriend you. All disease of the genital organs, whether of recent or long standing, such as gonorrhose, syphilis, gleet, strictures, urinary affections, ulcers upon the body, or in the throat and nose, we treat with that success which few Physicians in the world are capable of. Those who apply in the early stages of the disease are surprised at the little inconvenience and rapidity attending their cure, and those who have suffered from quarks and their nineral poisons will be warranted a permanent cure without mercury.
